NATO Agrees To Prepare Europe For Rocket Wars

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Atlantic Alliance leaders agreed unanimously today to gird Europe for push-button rocket warfare.

This victory for President Eisenhower's strategy of nuclear stockpiles and medium-range missile bases in Britain and on the Continent was a NATO summit conference compromise.

The United States gave its consent to cautious and guarded undertakings to the Kremlin to see if any success might be achieved by fresh negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Work in Store

Both agreements are in principle. A lot of work is in store for ministers and technicians before either can be carried out.

Only Britain, Turkey and the Netherlands definitely want missile bases. Norway, Denmark and West Germany prefer to stick with conventional arms. Others are lukewarm toward the bases. At any rate the United States will be unable to supply missiles and warheads for a year or more. It just doesn't have them now for wholesale export.

The draft of the military paper, still subject to possible change in wording, said: "In view of present Soviet policies, the NATO Council decided that IRBM missiles will have to be put at the disposal of the supreme commander, Europe."

Similarly, the prospect for immediate talks between Westerners and the Russians is scant, though Bern sources disclosed today neutral Switzerland is ready to issue formal invitations for another Geneva summit conference if both sides are certain to accept. Studies and consultation among NATO members are likely to take weeks.

Thus the United States and its European allies, dangerously split on these issues when the 15-nation conference opened Monday, found themselves in agreement, if not completely satisfied, with only one day's talks remaining.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will report to the American people on the summit conference on a 30-minute radio-TV broadcast from Washington at 8:30 p.m. EST, Monday.

Plane Schedule

Eisenhower plans to board his plane for home late tomorrow and arrive in Washington about 6:30 a.m. Friday. Dulles will make a short visit to Spain before returning to the United States.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Speck said Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Macmillan, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, French Premier Felix Gaillard and other alliance leaders stamped their approval on the military and diplomatic programs today.

"There is no Atlantic crisis," Speck told a news conference. "Everything goes well, and the heads of government have reached final agreement on almost all points. Some details on some few things have to be completed tomorrow."

Among these, he said, was dotting 'i's and crossing 't's' on where and when to sound out Moscow about a new parity.

But, the Belgian statesman added, the government chiefs have already given a definite go-ahead to French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau's suggestion that Western foreign ministers try to separate new disarmament talks with the Russians. These would be attempted if the United Nations negotiations, broken off by Russia, can't be restarted.

Eisenhower went to the conference table at the Palais de Chaillot a few minutes before 6 p.m. and stayed until the end of the session at 8:05 p.m.

Other Chiefs

He joined the other chiefs of government after the United States, at a daytime meeting of the foreign ministers had won agreement on its plans for setting up missile bases and a stockpile of atomic warheads in Europe to deal with any Soviet aggression.

The President was smiling broadly as he arrived at the meeting from the nearby U.S. Embassy residence. He had rested at the luncheon guest of President Rene Coty of France.

Informality was the keynote at the luncheon.

The President was accompanied by his son, Maj. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

The President, who suffered a slight stroke Nov. 25 was in good humor. He has been recovering fast, but still has not been given a medical discharge by his doctors.

Against the background of Eisenhower's recent illness, an ambulance on the palace grounds was cause for some wondering. French officials said the presence of the vehicle is routine at big dinners and receptions.

Jupiter Fails To Complete Full Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—The mighty Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) was fired tonight in a spectacular display of rocket power but the Defense Department announced later it did not complete its full flight because of technical difficulties.

Observers at this launching site midway on the Florida east coast thought at first there had been an explosion but the missile shot skyward like a flaming arrow and was visible for more than four minutes as it soared toward the stars.

New Weapon

The launching at 7:08 p.m. was the second in two days of one of the powerful new weapons being developed by the United States. It followed the launching of the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

The identification of the firing as the Jupiter quieted the suspicions of some observers that the Army might be trying to sneak a launching of an allied vehicle, the Jupiter-C rocket designed to place a satellite in an orbit around the earth.

The Defense Department announced in Washington an hour and a half after the launching that it was a Jupiter, and added:

"This test of the Jupiter, under development by the Army, is one of a series of IRBM and ICBM flight tests conducted at the Cape Canaveral range."

Later, the department said "The missile did not complete its full flight because of technical difficulties." A spokesman would not amplify.

Among the spectators were Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, Maj. Gen. John Medaris, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone, Ala.; Werthner von Braun, technical director for the agency; Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, commander of the Air Force missile test center, and Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan.).

There have been other Jupiter launchings here before, and they always have been among the showiest in the nation's rocket arsenal.

Dramatic

But this one was especially dramatic in the early evening darkness and in almost clear weather.

The 60-foot long weapon scurried through a few thin, scraggly clouds, then streaked starward.

It streaked on upward for more than four minutes before its lights disappeared. The missile not only was the brightest but the noisiest launched here in some time.

It was much more spectacular missile than the big Atlas fired yesterday.

The Army had been working on the missile all day, and at 5:45 p.m.—just before dusk—an airplane flew along the coast, apparently a signal for the forthcoming launching.

A few minutes later floodlights bathed the missile in its stand. It was white and sparkling in the bright lights.

At 6 p.m., however, the lights were dimmed, apparently as a delay in the launching program developed.

At 6:30 p.m. the floodlights came on again and remained on until the launching.

Three Perish In Illinois Tornado

By The Associated Press

OUT-OF-SEASON tornadoes ripped over Mount Vernon, Ill., and dipped down on rural areas in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri Wednesday.

Illinois state police said they had reports of three deaths at Murphysboro, Ill., and one near Du Quoin, Ill. There was one dead at Farmington, Mo. The injured included some 40 at Mount Vernon, Ill., and others at Truxton, Mo., and Farmington.

Injuries

In addition, the state police said there were injuries reported from Willsville, Murphysboro and Chester, Ill., although the had no information on the number or extent.

Several other Illinois towns reported some property damage.

A whirling wind smashed into a residential section known as Country Heights at the northwest corner of Mount Vernon, a city of 15,000 population 65 miles east of St. Louis, Mo.

Fire trucks were summoned from the nearby communities of Salem, Benton and Centralia. Police estimated 50 homes were damaged in Mount Vernon.

One tornado hit about six miles south of Farmington, which is 65 miles south of St. Louis. Two farm houses were shattered.

Public Hearing Slated For Thruway Project

Inter-Borough Bridge Hits Snag Of $250,000

A $250,000 snag in plans for the four-lane bridge linking Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg was described last night by T. K. Rothermund of Allentown, district engineer for the State Highway Department.

The wall is designed to protect the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. substation in an area where there is insufficient room for constructing earthen dikes.

Rothermund said K. H. Jensen, bridge engineer for the highway department to include a retaining wall on the downstream side of Broadheads Creek in the bridge plans and to assume cost of building it.

The district engineer told the group "I don't think it will take too long to work this out." He pointed out that the bridge project has a high priority and money for its construction is available.

He said he feels that the department should be able to advertise for bids in the spring.

During the meeting, Rothermund also apologized for the condition of the W. Main St. detour, necessitated by bridge construction across Pocono Creek.

He described the contractor as "very uncooperative" and said highway department crews have been assigned to do maintenance "which we could have forced him to do, but it would have taken longer."

The hearing will be held at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 14, probably in Monroe County Courthouse.

T. K. Rothermund of Allentown, district engineer for the State Highway Department, told councilmen from East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg at an informal conference last night that orders for the hearing were received by him yesterday from Harrisburg.

Gathering At Court House January 14

Procedure

The district engineer also outlined in some detail the procedure used at the hearings.

He said a transcript of the testimony, along with plans for the highway, will be forwarded to the Bureau of Public Roads at Hagerstown, Md., for review.

They will eventually be reviewed by officials in Washington before contracts for construction can be let. Under federal law, no federal funds can be made available for highway work unless a public hearing has been held.

The hearing will be conducted by highway department officials from Harrisburg. "I think after this hearing, everything's in the clear," Rothermund told the councilmen.

Greyhound Line To Pay $150,000 For Fatalities

THE GREYHOUND Lines Bus Co. today agreed in U. S. District Court, Lewisburg, to pay $150,000 to the families of five youths killed in a bus-auto crash near Effort last January.

Each of the five families will receive $30,000. In suits brought against the bus firm they had sought $100,000 for each of the five.

Killed in the crash were William J. Snyder, 20, Danville; Demetrius S. Marinos, 19, Bloomsburg; McClellan P. Whitenight, 18, Bloomsburg; Terry E. Hawk, 19, Nesquehoning; and B. Bernard Basci, 21, Berwick.

Each Family

The court ruled that $1,000 be paid to each family under the state Survival Act and $29,000 is to be paid to the administrators of the youths' estates under the Wrongful Death Act.

In an additional agreement Spyros Marinos, father of the driver of the car, will receive $300 for the demolished auto in which the boys were traveling.

The accident occurred last Jan. 29 on Route 115 near Effort.

The youths were returning to East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

A Greyhound bus hit an icy patch on the highway and struck the Marinos car. There were no fatalities on the bus.

Khrushchev Warns Of Possibilities

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev in a magazine article today raised the specter of nuclear destruction for any West European nation allowing American atomic bases on its territory.

At the same time he said he wants meetings of Soviet and American leaders to discuss co-existence.

The Soviet Communist party boss said countries which accept American atomic bases face shattering retaliatory attacks in the event of a war launched against Russia as a result of a misunderstanding or at the discretion of some American official.

"The cold war and the arms drive will lead to a new and very bloody war," Khrushchev warned in a letter published by the New Statesman, a leftist weekly review.

"Nuclear weapons, brought from across the ocean, are imposed on West European member states of NATO under the guise of defense against aggression," Khrushchev said.

"In reality, the deployment of nuclear weapons on the territories of these countries is a mortal blow to their security."

"If an aggressor breaks the peace, then, in accordance with the inexorable logic of war, shattering retaliatory attacks on the territories of those countries in which atomic bases are situated will be inevitable."

Atomic Boss Denies Charge By British

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—America's atomic boss today personally denied unofficial British charges that the United States has barred Britain from announcing a big step toward harnessing the H-bomb for peace.

Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, also said the achievement of H-power "is still remote."

Strauss had his office here release a statement he drafted in Paris, where he is attending the NATO summit parley.

"A report to the effect that the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority has suppressed announcement of success in the control of the fusion reaction at my request is completely false," the statement began.

Scientists of both countries have been attempting to achieve a controlled thermonuclear, or fusion, reaction. Such a reaction would produce energy which, if harnessed in a reactor, would give the world a new source of power.

British Press

The British press has been saying that England's atomic scientists have made great strides toward the production of H-power but that the AEC has made Britain keep the news under wraps.

Strauss, in denying he had requested any such gag, repeated what he and the British have said at least twice before:

"A report in both countries have done work which suggests that they may have achieved controlled fusion reactions; however, this 'will only be ascertainable as a result of elaborate and protracted experiments.'"

Strauss said that if controlled fusion reactions are definitely established, this "would be an important step—but only a step—in the long-range efforts to develop thermonuclear reactors for the production of economic power."

His statement concluded that while the achievement of economic thermonuclear power doubtless will be realized, it is still remote. And he said "it will not, therefore, interfere with the necessary development of atomic power reactors of the fission type."

Specialized Court

HONG KONG, Dec. 18 (AP)—Peiping radio reports all university students in Red China will be required to take a special one-year course of "socialist education." A broadcast said it would be based on Chairman Mao Tse-tung's theorizing "on the correct handling of contradictions among the people."

Indonesia Officially Takes Over All Major Dutch Firms In Drive For Firm Control

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 18 (AP)—Premier Djuanda told newsmen today the government has officially taken over major Dutch industries in Indonesia and if the Dutch want compensation they must turn over Dutch West New Guinea.

But, he said, whether West New Guinea is yielded to Indonesia or not, the Dutch never will regain the powerful economic position they had held here.

If the Netherlands refuses to give up the New Guinea territory, he said, "We will continue our present course and eliminate Dutch economic interests in Indonesia."

Shortly after he spoke, 700 Dutch citizens sailed on the Dutch ship Waterman for Singapore in the biggest evacuation since the campaign against Hollanders opened three weeks ago. There were indications that most of the 46,000 Dutch nationals will leave within the next two weeks.

In its campaign for possession of West New Guinea, Indonesia has ordered all nonworking Dutch to get out of the country. Indonesian workers—without official government approval—have seized Dutch firms.

Djuanda's statement was the first official admission that such Dutch interests as shipping, port facilities, electricity and gas had been nationalized. Previously, officials had said that only Dutch port facilities had been permanently taken over by the government.

He said the takeover of Dutch enterprises was carried out under state of war and siege regulations. The Premier said all the newly nationalized industries will remain nationalized but when the West New Guinea dispute is settled compensation will be paid.

Old Ships

But Shipping Minister Nazir told Parliament the government does not intend to nationalize the Dutch shipping company KPM because its ships are old and the price would be too high.

Djuanda denied reports that unions had gotten out of hand in seizing Dutch firms.

He said trade relations between Indonesia and Holland have not been officially cut off but that Indonesia is making every effort to shift its foreign markets from Holland.

Other officials said efforts are being made to shift the smelting of tin from government-owned mines to Singapore from the Netherlands.

ICC Serves Blunt Notice On Truckers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today served blunt notice on truckers that they stand to lose their operating permits if they honor "hot cargo" labor clauses.

Without specifically passing upon legality of such clauses, the commission said common carriers under its jurisdiction must not bargain away—through labor contracts—their obligation to serve the public.

The commission's unanimous decision, with all of its 11 members taking part, constituted another of a series of recent setbacks for the Teamsters Union.

Organizing Technique

The Teamsters have used the "hot cargo" clauses as a potent organizing technique.

Union representatives often merely walk in and tell an employer he must sign a labor contract, or face a refusal of truck lines, having contracts with the union, to handle his shipments.

In its contracts, the union insists upon "hot cargo" clauses. Under them, the employer is forbidden to discharge an employee who refuses to handle goods referred to as "hot cargo."

In Desmond A. Barry, a rugged Texan, the union encountered a tartar.

Barry, as president of Galveston Truck Line Corp., Houston, refused to sign up.

Complying with union demands, nine other truck lines operating out of Oklahoma City, Okla., refused for six weeks in the spring of 1955 to handle cargo delivered to them by Barry's company for transshipment.

Identified

The dead were identified as the pilot, Lt. Donald F. Egan, 25, who is survived by his wife and two children who live in Brooklyn, N.Y., and Sgt. Lemuel A. Mitchell, 46, Baltimore, Md.

Mitchell's wife, Frances, is reported in critical condition.

19 Convicted Of Violating Blue Laws

ALLENTOWN, Dec. 18 (AP)—Nineteen persons charged with violating the Pennsylvania Blue Law against Sunday sales at the Two Guys from Harrison shopping center were convicted tonight.

Allentown Alderman Thomas M. Miller heard the cases of 23 persons charged with violating the old law. All are employees or supervisors at the store in nearby Whitehall Township.

Charges against two store guards were withdrawn, one case was referred to juvenile authorities, and another was deferred because of the defendants' illness. Of the remaining 19, all pleaded innocent.

George J. Joseph and Morris Effron, attorneys for the shopping center, which has headquarters in Newark, N. J., said they would appeal the convictions to Lehigh County Court. The defendants face fines of $4 and costs for each offense.

Five Other Pleas

In another case involving employees of the Allentown Bargain Center, five persons pleaded guilty to violating the ban against selling on Sunday. They were fined $4 each plus $16.50 in court costs.

Philip Sultan and Guernsey Afflerbach, who operated concessions at the Bargain Center, were convicted of Sunday sales violations.

In another development, Lehigh County court granted a temporary injunction against Local 677 of the United Auto Workers and Local 1361 of the Retail Clerks Union.

Jury Gets Hoffa Case

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—The writcase case against Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa went to a federal jury at 4 p.m. today. The trial began Nov. 22.

Magazines Convicted

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18 (AP)—A judge today found Confidential and Whisper magazines guilty of obscenity charges and fined each $5,000.

$1,000 Fix Charged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Two Tennesseans swore today that $1,000 was paid to fix a criminal case before a Chattanooga court. A third witness insisted the money was a campaign contribution to the judge, Raulston Schoolfield.

Inventor Succumbs

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 18 (AP)—James Cloyd Downs, 72, whose discovery of an electrolytic cell process made possible the manufacture of artificial rubber, died here today.

Price Doesn't Count

SHANNON, Ireland, Dec. 18 (AP)—Pan American Airways disclosed tonight a $9,800 thoroughbred horse had to be shot dead high over the Atlantic because it was trying to kick out the side of a cargo plane flying it to New York.

Eisenhower Pushes Hard To Bolster Alliance Strength

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight pushed hard at the job of bolstering the Atlantic Alliance in the closing sessions of the NATO summit conference.

The President sat in at a night meeting, the first to start in the evening since the conference opened Monday. He also arranged to start back to Washington early tomorrow evening. His plane is scheduled to arrive in the U.S. capital about 6:30 a.m. Friday.

Eisenhower went to the conference table at the Palais de Chaillot a few minutes before 6 p.m. and stayed until the end of the session at 8:05 p.m.

An Air Force spokesman in Los Angeles said three men were aboard, but the San Diego County sheriff's office said four or five bodies had been located in the wreckage.

March Air Force Base, the plane's home station, said there may have been few aboard.

The medium bomber crashed with terrific force and burst into flames. Observatory personnel put out the fire.

March AFB said the plane crashed in mist, fog and rain that made visibility zero. It was approaching the base, about 50 miles north of the crash scene, after a training flight.

Tree Fire Precautions

"The Christmas tree is one of the most combustible objects known," the National Safety Council warns as millions of people begin setting up trees inside their homes.

"Christmas trees, filled with natural pitch and resin, can burn so quickly it is almost impossible to extinguish the flames by ordinary methods," the council points out.

Each year flash fires turn joyful Christmas celebrations into flaming horror, causing untold damage in injuries, property and even life.

To help prevent Christmas tree fires, the council offers six simple precautions which every family should follow to the letter:

First, buy a fresh tree and keep it in a cold place until you are ready to put it up. Then saw off, diagonally, at least an inch of the trunk. Place the base in a water-containing holder and keep the holder filled with water while the tree is up.

Locate the tree well away from fireplaces, radiators, television sets, powerful electric lights and other sources of heat. Use only electric lights. Be sure they bear the Underwriter's Laboratories label. Check wires for defects and loose sockets before putting on tree.

Too many light circuits on one outlet may overload house wiring and blow a fuse. Reduce the load or connect part to another circuit outlet.

Be sure ends of metallic icicles or other decorations do not dangle into light sockets where they can cause a short circuit and flash fire.

Do not operate electric trains or other electrical toys, which may spark, under the tree.

Experiments with chemicals in tree preservation have not materially affected the flammable qualities of Christmas trees, safety officials warn, and too much reliance should not be placed on such treatment.

Follow the tips offered by the safety council and you can be almost certain that your holiday will be free of tragic fire.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Practical Suggestion

It used to be that an educated man knew Latin, read Latin, wrote in Latin and all other educated men could understand him. Then came along the modern and local languages and each wrote in his own tongue. But the educated man was forced to learn quite a number of languages to work in his field. Scientists turned to German which before World War I was the language of knowledge; diplomats turned to French; tradesmen had to know English.

But the terminology of science, the classifications and names in all the sciences, including medicine, remained Latin. Therefore, the scientist of any country needed at least German and Latin to get by. Nowadays, scientific papers are written in all languages, including Russian and Chinese. The terminology remains Latin, as for instance blattus means cockroach and no matter what language is native to a scientist, he can identify the 1,200 living species as belonging to the blattus family.

Today, important scientific papers are written in Russian. A competent translator then must know Russian, English and the science in which he is working to get out any kind of a translation. Let us say that he has to translate the reports on Sputnik I. He must be expert in Russian; he must write understandable English; he must be completely familiar with physics, chemistry, possibly mineralogy, meteorology, and whatever other sciences the report touches upon.

That requires a man of parts and obviously such men are hard to find. It is much easier to have translations from the German or the French. Much top-notch scientific work is being done in the Scandinavian countries and some of this work is done in Swedish, although some of it comes quickly into the German and is translated from the German into English.

The result of all this is enormous delay. It is easy enough for the outsider to criticize the government and various scientific groups for not knowing immediately what is going on everywhere in the world. The backlog of data must be tremendous because of this translation problem.

What is even more costly is the duplication of work, for if in some part of the world the work has already been done and the result accomplished, it might be a few years before the translations have been made which the learned throughout the world can use.

The practical suggestion is that science accept Latin as a universal language as it was up to the 19th Century for the learned. In most countries, scholars still study Latin. It is true that Soviet Russia does not go in for dead languages but the Russian education system is flexible and adapts itself to end results. In the United States, it is astonishing how many of the smart boys and girls have a good start in Latin in the high schools, particularly those who recognize the need for Latin terminology in medicine and in most scientific courses.

If scientific papers could be written in Latin in all countries, it would make current data immediately available. The idea of a universal language has attracted men's minds always. In recent generations several were suggested, as, for instance, Esperanto. But that just means adding more baggage. Latin is part of the equipment of the learned man anyhow and it is not too difficult to learn. It is already established and has been for several thousand years.

Why manufacture another language when there is a workable one on hand? Scientific knowledge is piling up so rapidly that it is no longer possible to say that anyone knows all there is to know. In fact, nobody can know everything even in his own subject. For most, a generalized knowledge of a science is sufficient with some data as to the progress that is being made. The expert is required to have a detailed, pinprick familiarity with his particular subject.

For instance, there can be no doubt that the making of weather is the next important development in science. This can be a benefit to mankind; it can be the greatest of evils. It can mean that deserts will be made to bloom; it can be that whole countries can be flooded by the blowing up of icebergs by hydrogen bombs.

Very few in this world know anything about this subject and those who do must know an awful lot before anyone will respect their views.

When Ethel Barrymore's memoirs were published, an eager beaver in the publisher's publicity department notified a Pasadena, Calif., newspaper that his city as mentook time to look up the reference, and this is what Miss Barrymore had written: "The first time I came to Hollywood, they suggested that a good way to avoid photographers and newsmen would be to sneak off the train at Pasadena, so that's what I did."

Why The Chimes Rang

By Raymond MacDonald Alden

Why The Chimes Ring? "Why The Chimes Ring?" is a story of sacrifice and giving written by Raymond MacDonald Alden. The scene is a stone church with a high tower containing chimes of rare tone. No one living ever heard the chimes.

They were to sound only with giving of your best. It was Christmas Eve and all were eager to hear the chimes. Rich men and great men gave gifts of precious jewels, some large baskets filled with gold. A great writer gave a book that was a work of a life time.

A murmur came as people saw the king give his royal crown. Such gifts were never given before. A brother and Pedro also had a desire to witness the spectacle. Many doubted if the chimes ever rang. Away outside the city walls, Pedro stopped to give assistance to a helpless sick woman in a softly falling snow.

Winking with tears had to keep back, Pedro hurried little brother off to the church with instructions not to disturb anyone and "Give this Little Silver Piece of Mine." It was pretty hard for Pedro to lose the music and splendor of the Christmas celebration, that he had been planning for so long, and instead spend the time in that lonely place in the snow.

Everyone said that the great church was a wonderful place that night. Pedro could hear the organ and thousands sing. Quoting the climax: "Not a sound could be heard from any one in the church, but as all the people strained their ears to listen, there came softly, but distinctly, swinging through the air, the sound of the chimes in the tower. So far away, and yet so clear the music seemed—so much sweeter were the notes than anything that had been heard before, rising and falling away up there in the sky, that people in the church, sat for a moment as though something held each of them by the shoulder."

"Then they all stood up together and stared straight at the altar to see what great gift had awakened the long silent bells. But all that the nearest of them saw was the childish figure of Little Brother, who crept softly down the aisle when no one was looking, and had laid Pedro's little piece of silver on the altar."

Barbara Hartman, Dr. of Pharmacy, Dr. of Sacrifice, makes the chimes of the Methodist Church ring in distant isolated Africa. Believing that many of the 2300 faithful members of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church might have translation difficulty, this portion will not be written in the dialect. Barbara is one of the shining lights made to glisten with the Polish of Rev. Harold Eaton. The Methodists of East Stroudsburg are attracted to the church by faith. The church has grown to be the largest in this Methodist jurisdiction. Other churches have also grown, but none like the East Stroudsburg church. The reason is the man, Rev. Harold S. Eaton. The entire newspaper could be filled relating the accomplishments of this outstanding Methodist. And by one, who is on the outside, looking in.

Dr. Hartman has earned everything the hard way. She is capable and well qualified to practice pharmacy in the States. Her earning power could keep her quite comfortable and provide most everything that women of today desire. To the contrary, this humble girl chooses soul saving, many times a thankless job with compensation only sufficient, perhaps, for imperative requirements. Braving the wild beast and lethal reptile infested Congo, Dr. Hartman compounds and dispenses medicine for the pain and helpless sick natives. She has mastered many foreign languages. She is gifted with the ability and willingness to make friends quickly. Consequently, the opportunity for a missionary, saving the soul of a heathen, in the African Mission, Christmas is a day of worship and the Peace on Earth, Good Will toward men is a daily routine. In a sense, every day is Christmas. It is not too late for mailing a holiday card, even though weeks are required to reach the destination. Why don't you send a card today? Your thoughtfulness will be certain to reach Barbara on one of her Christmas days. Mail to Barbara Hartman M M C C Wembo Nyama Par Lusambo Congo Beige Afrique

Two Sides To Every Argument

by Jim Riley

Today I'll sit on the bench and let Jack Mullins of 514 Brown St., Stroudsburg, carry the ball.

His subject concerns recent statements attributed to Gov. George Leader and Dr. B. E. njamin Fine in regards to re-vamping our schools.

Dear Jim: Please move over and let me have the column for today. Governor Leader and Dr. Fine apparently feel that a six day week and 11 month school year is just fine for our American youth.

Well, I think they are both "way off the beam." You report that the 10-year plan functions well in Russia according to Dr. Fine. So does atheism. Russia beat us to the punch in the missile so we should adopt the Russian "Way of Life." If we do and they make me J. Krushchev Mullins, the dictator, the first thing I'll do is put Mr. Leader and Dr. Fine in concentration camps for "spouting off" with original ideas.

All that we hear since Sputnik I was launched is that we are lagging in the scientific field. Ever since we in this season of Advent approaching the holiday Season stubbed our "Missile Toe" in the Ringling Bros. highly publicized Vanguard launching of the Vanguard we hear nothing but scarcity of engineers, weak system of education, etc., etc.

If we had ten times as many engineers as we have today we still would have just as much trouble in the satellite field. It very definitely is not the result of deficiency in quality or quantity of engineers and scientists. It is clearly a case of utilization of qualified men and above all coordination of the branches of service. Perhaps the greatest problem of all lies within our political system. It is the old story—jealousy within our military branches.

But why not attack the meat of the problem which is the political condition of the country rather than the school system?

But to get back to my reason for writing this distribute, let's take a look at this "hair-brained" idea of Dr. Fine. Assuming that it has some merit, let's look at the affect it would have on us right here in Monroe County.

First of all our children would not be able to work on Saturdays or in vacation time as many of them do. A great percentage of the kids do and buy most of their clothes with the money.

Secondly if the country adopts this "brain-storm" idea it would enable us to close down quite a few of our resorts in the Poconos because families would be unable to spend vacations here with the children in school. One of the real hardships on the resort industry right now is that because city schools are so late, in closing the resort business here is practically limited to eight or nine weeks—a very short season.

You know, I think that the time is ripe to organize a school kids union in our town. We could most appropriately call it the Stroud Union and give the youngsters a chance to express themselves on this most controversial subject.

Also everyone knows that the Labor Union want a 32-hour, four-day week. If that is the case why put the kids on a six-day week?

Unions are asking for more vacations and we want to reduce it for our youth.

Some of our so-called "educators" are saying the kids are soft today. They talk about how they must have cars, etc., etc., yet if they want to visit somebody themselves they drive in their cars even though it is three blocks to where they are going. I am afraid that is part of our "standard of living." Maybe it isn't good but the adults do it just as much as the kids.

Let's settle down to some common sense and recognize the fact that we citizens do not live for the state or government but the government is for the people. That is paramount.

If we, as adults, clean up corruption in politics, obscene literature, pornography, etc. for the kids and by example and direction get them to go to church and give them spirited background and faith we shall be accomplishing far more than Gov. Leader and Dr. Fine have set out to do with their Willy-Nilly ideas.

If we can instill in our children the virtues of tolerance, honesty, justice and charity, then we are really making progress. That is a seven-day-a-week job for us as parents.

That's it.

Pax Vobiscum. JACK MULLINS

Gift May Help Decide Occupation

SPACE MAN or service man? Surgeon or salesman? Give your youngster the gift that will help him to help himself by answering these questions about his future.

The 1957 edition of the Occupational Outlook Handbook describes more than 300 jobs and 20 major industries. The nature of the work in each job, the qualifications needed, the earnings to be expected, the employment outlook, and other job factors are combined to present an accurate and comprehensive view of job opportunities in the United States. The Handbook sells for four dollars and is written in a manner to be of interest to the youngster from the late elementary school years through college.

Regional Director
Robert R. Behlow, Regional Director for the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, in making the suggestion that parents purchase copies of the Handbook for their children as a gift for their future, said that his office will make every effort to process orders for the Handbook in time for receipt before Christmas.

Mail orders should be addressed to the U. S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, Room 1003, 341 Ninth Ave., New York 1, New York. Cash, check or money order should be made payable to the Superintendent of Documents. Immediate delivery can be obtained at the above address.

Peifly Withdraws As Candidate For Board

BANGOR — Clair H. Peifly of Bangor yesterday withdrew as a candidate for appointment to a vacancy on the Bangor School Board which cast three votes each for him and Mrs. William Hough Monday night.

His withdrawal does not close the field to other persons seeking the appointment. The board will meet Jan. 6 to hear applicants.

Elementary Pressure
Peifly said he was conceding to Mrs. Hough to eliminate what he termed pressure on the school board. H was supported by the Kiwanis Club, while Mrs. Hough was backed by several women's organizations.

The vacancy arose when Quintus Lahar resigned after being elected Burgess.

U.S. Beyond Point Of Experiment

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Jane's Fighting Ships said today the United States, with atomic-powered aircraft carrier on order, has advanced almost past the experimental stage in forging a navy based on nuclear propulsion and missile armament.

The Soviet Union, with vessels of more conventional design, has built a rival navy around "the largest submarine fleet the world has ever seen," it said.

The authoritative naval review, in its volume for 1957-58, foresaw the emergence of a vastly more powerful submarine as the capital ship of the future, possibly displacing the aircraft carrier from this role in a few years as the carrier ousted the battleship in World War II.

Further, Jane's drew attention to the fact the Soviet Union on one side and the United States and its North Atlantic allies on the other are marshaling naval might of a different type based on differing concepts of navy strategy.

The book summed up rival strategies thus:

The United States Navy requires strong, far-ranging units of all types to project American might across wide oceans. Russia, in another war, would want control of the waters near the coasts of Europe and Asia. Hence the Soviet concentration on submarines.

"But although Russia may have superiority in numbers," the review continued "the United States cannot be said to have lagged behind in pressing submarine design towards its ultimate development. Indeed she already has several nuclear-powered submarines and others carrying guided missiles."

Jane's estimated by the mid-1960s the United States will have a flotilla of 75 atomic-powered submarines and that the surface fleet will include an equal number of guided missile ships "spread over the aircraft, cruiser, frigate, destroyer and escort categories."

Revolution
Foreseeing revolution in naval construction comparable to the replacement of sail by steam more than a century ago, Jane's said:

"The most outstanding features in the United States field of naval architecture and marine engineering are the simultaneous adoption of nuclear propulsion and guided missiles on a general scale. The experimental stage is almost past."

The review pointed out some craft incorporate both changes.

Jane's carried a sketch of the new American nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier which is to be constructed by the Newport News, Va., Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. This giant, to displace 75,000 to 85,000 tons, will be able to carry more and larger aircraft than her smaller sisters of the Forrestal class and operate at an unlimited range since "she will be capable of steaming for five years without refueling."

The U. S. Navy gave the order last Aug. 16 for a start on the carrier, which will cost more than 314 million dollars and take four years to build.

Plans also are well advanced for an American nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser "designed to operate offensively and independently of other forces under conditions of nuclear warfare."

Jane's said the launching this month by the Soviet Union of the 16,000-ton atomic icebreaker Lenin—the first atomic-powered surface ship to be launched—meant that Russian engineers were looking ahead to atomic cruisers and battle cruisers.

The review gave this broad picture of Russia's naval strength: "Her submarine fleet now numbers over 475 units, of which a large percentage are long-range boats of new construction. It is estimated that in each of the calendar years 1958 and 1959 she will commission 75 to 85 new modern submarines."

"Besides this huge undersea fleet, she has built more cruisers and destroyers since the second World War than all the nations of the rest of the world combined."

"The principal trend in the Soviet Union's new construction program is the shifting of the emphasis from high seas cruisers of 15,000 tons with a speed of 35 knots to fast ocean destroyers with a speed of 38 knots."

Clash Site Quiet In Palmerton

PALMERTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Palmerton Mills plant, site of a clash involving members of two unions yesterday, was quiet today.

A picket line once again was stationed outside the plant by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Yesterday's flareup occurred when several members of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) tried to pass through another ACW picket line to enter the plant.

The two unions have been engaged in a dispute for the past month over which shall represent workers employed in the shirt and underwear plant.

Shut Down

The plant has been shut down for several weeks, principally to permit improvements but partly because of the union dispute.

The factory was acquired by Paul Meislin, owner of another garment plant at Fountain Hill, with the intention of employing between 200 and 300 persons in the Palmerton mills, formerly known as the Palmer Shirt Co.

The ILGWU has a contract covering workers in Meislin's Fountain Hill plant, while the ACW represented workers in the old Palmer Shirt Co. plant. Now both want to represent the workers to be employed in the plant here.

Warrants charging assault and battery were obtained today against three of those accused of taking part in yesterday's fracas. Those named in the warrant were Peter Swoboda, Frackville; Hal Vellavir, York, and George Nejmech, Allentown. Swoboda was identified as an official of the ACW joint board and Nejmech as a business agent of the same union.

Prowl Cars

Four local police cruised around in prowling cars, while state police stood by, acting only as "observers."

Meanwhile, Allentown Atty. Frank Doocoy, representing the Palmerton Mills ownership, said he plans to seek an injunction in Carbon County court against ACW to prevent further flare-ups.

Eight Fail To Meet Requirements

APPROXIMATELY eight of the 21 applicants for low rent housing developments in Monroe County do not meet Public Housing Authority requirements, it was announced yesterday.

Rev. Roger C. Stimson, chairman of the county housing authority, said most of the rejections are on the basis of income.

Maximum Income

Maximum income for two persons who wish to qualify for the housing project is $3,000 with a scale for dependents which can take maximum income to $3,500 for larger families.

Rev. Stimson said that some applicants who feel they meet the income requirements actually have other sources of income which make them ineligible, such as accepting board or room money from another member of the family.

The three development areas are expected to be ready for occupancy before March 1.

Water Gap Driver Free On Bail

RICHARD S. Henley, 33, of Delaware Water Gap, held for investigation by East Stroudsburg police after a two-car accident Friday, is free on $500 bail awaiting court action on drunken driving charges.

Henley pleaded guilty to the charge at a hearing before Jack Wyckoff, East Stroudsburg justice of the peace.

Henley's car and one driven by Arthur L. Brown, 58, Stroudsburg, RD 1, collided last Friday on N. Courtland St. in front of East Stroudsburg High School.

Brown and his wife, Margaret, were treated for bruises and shock.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

This is the season for secrets — and though this year there is no need to stuff the knitting under the couch pillow because its intended wearer has walked in unexpectedly — no need to hide the bulky, dead-give-away shapes of presents for the children — I still have my share of secrets.

One of the compensations of this job is knowing whose Christmas engagement is to be announced before the world at large knows anything about it at all. And as mothers bring out the doll to gloat over it when her small daughter is sound asleep, so I, when the day's news is done, get out my engagement pictures and my release dates and check the calendar to see if it isn't time yet.

Well, it isn't; so you'll just have to wait. Though at the rate the announcements of holiday weddings are coming in, there'll be almost as many brides as prospective brides. Christmas weddings are lovely but they certainly disrupt the family Christmas plans, and the other children will be lucky if they get any presents at all with the bride monopolizing all of the attention — and the money.

Of course, it simplifies the matter of remembering anniversaries in later years, but also doubles the chances that one gift will be made to stretch for both anniversary and Christmas.

Which is a fine thing to be worrying them about right now. In fact, I seem to spend my time worrying about the wrong things right now.

Instead of standing by looking wistfully at all the family reunions with the boys coming home from service, the vanguard of the college crowd home from school, I ought to be worrying about getting ready for my own homecoming festivities this weekend.

Instead of being disappointed when a Christmas card reveals no word of personal greeting across the miles, I ought to be making sure that my own do. Instead of wistfully in such good resolutions that they don't get mailed until next Christmas.

Here for Wedding

Mrs. Marian Cardamoni of Asbury Park, N. J., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mervine, Stroudsburg, in preparation for the holiday wedding of her daughter, Miss Nancy Ann Rinker.

Working For Others Can Overcome Own Shyness

By Anne Heywood

It is a popular belief, nowadays, that the counselor must be perfectly objective and impersonal. However, I'm frank to admit that while I aim at this ideal, I hardly ever achieve it. I'm much more personally involved in the kind of problem which I myself once suffered than in those I didn't.

Familiar Problem
For example, I was once painfully shy, self-conscious and tongue-tied. I must admit that I feel awfully close to the readers who suffer from that combination of maladies.

In fact, I once asked my readers who had conquered shyness to write and tell me about it so that I might pass the information on to others. In reply, I received this wonderful letter from a reader in Montana:

"I love to be with people, but have always been afraid to be the first to speak or even to sit beside them."

"Then, one day, I joined a service group which was organized to help sick or needy overseas veterans and their families. I had found that as long as I was helping others, I was not self-conscious — just interested."

Good Excuse
The service club gave me a reason, or excuse if you will, for speaking first to other people, whether I knew them or not, getting to meet them and listening to what they had to say. Considering how scared I really am of people, I have managed to sell whatever we are selling and to get as much sold as almost anybody, because it is helping others.

"So my idea is that if a shy person joins some organization that will give her a chance to help others — old people, sick people, children, cripples or the mentally ill — she will soon forget her shyness."

All Have Problems
"People may scare you, but they are the most interesting thing there is. They are all different, but full of problems and full of possibilities."

There's a woman who has conquered her shyness and has

Pilgrim's Christmas Rich With Handmade Gifts, Young Historians Reveal

Delaware Water Gap — With all the pictures, programs and stories connecting the Pilgrims with the First Thanksgiving the third and fourth graders of the Delaware Water Gap school raised the question, "Why don't we talk about the Pilgrims on Christmas, too? Didn't they have any Christmas?"

The questions started something which ended in the Christmas entertainment presented at the school yesterday afternoon. Through reading, study and research, the children discovered that while the Puritans frowned on Christmas as a secular holiday, the Pilgrims gave gifts, decorated and entertained friends.

The result was a three-act play, written and acted by the children under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Alys Morton, as authentic in costume, customs and setting as they could make it. The audience filled the classrooms to capacity. First and second graders in songs and rhythm band selections provided the musical background for the play, under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Marshall.

The actual setting for the play was a painted backdrop of a fireplace, pewter plates, musket, lantern, a framed sampler and dried corn. Painters were Christy Sutton, Peggy Muschinsky, John Hal Kulp, William Heiler and Patsy Flynn. William Heiler III also served as narrator for the play.

Revealed through the play were some of the gifts they made themselves or found to make their first Christmas bright: a honeycomb to add sweetness; a cranberry necklace, a slate, a wooden stool, a cornucopia doll, and a bird house made from a gourd.

Neighbors brought in apples, and visiting Indians presented a bow and arrow, fishing pole, tomahawk and moccasins in exchange for a hunting knife.

The Christmas decorations included popcorn and cranberry garlands, pine cones, and rabbit tails.

During the course of the play Peter LaBar told a Christmas story he himself had written.

Following the performance, children and guests adjourned to the primary room where a Calendar Tree, with special events for each day hidden in the ornaments, revealed that yesterday was the day for "a Treat."

Refreshments, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Assn. were served.

First graders who took part in the rhythm band and songs included Mark Comstock, Frank Davis, Jimmy Singer, Jimmy Anthony, Ricky Sutton, Martin Counterman, Nelson Jennings, Carol Reisenwitz, Doris Widdoss.

Second graders included Randy Ott, Allen Fabel, Michael Siptroth, George Regan, Susan Fabel, Donna Widdoss, Dona Lehr, Carol Wilson, Nancy Richards and Yona Geshensky.

It's In The Bag; Holiday Plum Pudding Traditional

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

Do old-fashioned arts interest you? Then how about boiling your holiday plum puddings in muslin bags the old-time way? If you want to give some of the puddings away, make them look like icy snowballs by coating them in melted paraffin and then decorate with greens.

Boiled Plum Pudding

Ingredients: 1 pound seedless raisins, 1 pound golden raisins, 1 pound currants, 1/4 pound candied lemon peel, 1/4 pound candied orange peel, 1/4 pound citron, 1/4 pound blanched almonds, 2 cups orange juice, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons cloves, 2 teaspoons nutmeg, 3/4 cups fine dry bread crumbs, 2 cups golden shortening, 2 cups firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 12 eggs.

Method: Rinse raisins and currants in hot water; drain. Slice lemon peel, orange peel and citron thin. Chop almonds. Mix raisins, peels, citron and almonds with orange juice in a bowl or crock; cover and soak overnight. Next day sift together the flour, cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg; mix with bread crumbs. Cream shortening and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, two at a time; stir in fruit mixture, then fruit mixture. Steam according to following directions. Makes 10 pounds pudding.

Steaming Directions

For individual 2-pound puddings, cut 14-inch squares from white muslin; dip squares in boiling water to remove any sizing. Spread a square of muslin on pastry board and measure 2 pounds (about 4 cups) of the pudding batter into the center of the cloth. Bring up the cloth around pudding, forming pudding into a ball and tie tightly about 1-inch air space at the top for expansion.

Bring a kettle of water to a rolling boil, put in the puddings, cover and boil rapidly for 2 hours. (If you make smaller or larger puddings, boil 1 hour per pound.) Remove the pudding to a cake rack to drain and cool. Store in tightly covered container. To reheat, steam about 1 hour, or until heated through.

For Christmas Giving

Cut new squares of muslin about 16-inches square for 2-pound puddings. Wrap the muslin-covered puddings in the new muslin squares; tie tightly at the top with string. Melt some paraffin in a shallow container so it is about 1-inch deep; do not have it scalding hot. Dip the bottom of the puddings in the melted paraffin and spoon paraffin over sides and top to make a complete seal. Decorate with Christmas greenery. Put a tag on each pudding saying that the outer muslin with its paraffin coating must be removed before the pudding is reheated for serving.

When I addressed the Jacob Stroud Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution at Monday's Christmas meeting, displaying fifty or more of my Madonnas, I was one of my most prized possessions—a Madonna brooch given me several years ago by my boss.

As I recall, our store had just received a big shipment of unframed pictures which Mr. Wyckoff had purchased in the city, and I had gone downstairs to leaf through them in search of Madonnas. "Madonnas?" Mr. Wyckoff questioned me. "Why do you want Madonnas?"

I told him I collected them... that I had approximately 400, all different.

"Four hundred!" he exclaimed in disbelief. "What do you do with them?" Then, being realistic about the matter, he decided, "If you have that many, you certainly don't need more."

I replied rather lamely, I imagine, that I loved them.

Several days later I was summoned to my boss's office. He handed me a small box. "I brought this from New York for you," he smiled. "I thought that if any of my young'ns were going to collect Madonnas, I'd better help them along."

Needless to say, that brooch is one of the most treasured Madonnas in a collection which... on my most recent check this past Sunday... proved to number considerably over 1000. It was typical of my boss that he made this contribution to my hobby. For Mr. Wyckoff has the wonderful quality of being interested in innumerable things—particularly those things which interest his employees.

Mrs. Wyckoff too has been very kind, as has Mrs. A. L. Rhoads, Mr. Wyckoff's sister. To be honest, there is hardly any one whom I know who has not given me at least one Madonna for the collection. As a matter of fact, I cannot look at my pictures without remembering that this one came from Edna Brockman when she was in Paris... another came from the Wyckoffs, postmarked Rome... a tiny black and white print was mailed from New York by Hazel Foltz when I was in the hospital several years ago... Florence Predmore has given me hundreds... Gilbert Dunning brought six or seven back from his European tour... Mrs. Gilbert Barthold has been kind enough to leave several rills in the collection was given me by my pal Blanche Mackey of Gift Wrap. One of the newest acquisitions in my display was while the saddest—an El Greco, showing the Mother of our crucified Lord, was given me by a group of my co-workers here at the store. To thank everyone who has taken an interest in my hobby would be utterly impossible... but my appreciation is very real nonetheless.

I feel I should thank my co-workers here at Wyckoff's for making Monday afternoon's display possible. When faced with arranging the pictures, I was baffled as to how this could be done, since there was no possibility of hanging them on walls. Jack LeBar, our Wyckoff maintenance supervisor, had a suggestion. Why not use one of the wooden 4x8's used each January for our annual Wyckoff art show? Emmett Fabel devised an easel arrangement for the back; Amy Ellenberger suggested using a gold background, and Fran Meredith, head of our display department, cooperated by covering the frame with sheets of heavy gold foil.

It just goes to prove what I've said time and again—when you have problems, chances are the solution can be found at WYCKOFF'S. Whether you're shopping for Christmas gifts... for smart, new ideas... or merely seeking suggestions, I'd guarantee that Wyckoff's has all the answers—plus a friendly way of making them available.

Mushroom Growing Risky Project

By George Abraham
MUSHROOMS INDOORS: A reader writes to ask us if he can successfully grow mushrooms in his basement, using specially prepared kits. He sends along an ad from a firm which pays $3.50 a pound for mushrooms grown from kits you purchase from the firm.

Home growing of mushrooms is alright if you want to experiment but don't count on it as a breadwinner. Don't fall for that hokum of making money by raising mushrooms in the cellar and selling them to a company.

The Federal Trade Commission tells us that in one year the public paid one company $328,000 for mushroom kits in hopes of making money, and all the customers sold back to the company was only $5,324.75 worth of mushrooms. Money was made on mushrooms, but it was the company which profited, and not the customers. So

Question Box

M. H. of Stroudsburg: "I've raised a Christmas Cactus for three years now, hoping it would bloom for Christmas. So far it hasn't a bud on it. What special care do they need to flower for Christmas?"

This temperamental plant is a native to Brazil where it grows on the branches of trees and decaying bark. For the home owner the plant more likely than not flowers in January or later, or not at all. The main reason for failing to bloom at Christmas is that the plant simply will not flower at a temperature of 70 to 75 degs. indoors. The ideal temperature for flower bud formation is around 50 to 60 degs, which means that a cool, bright bedroom window is best. So it's likely that your plant has been in a room that's too warm.

During the summer the plant should be set outdoors in a semi-shady and cool spot. The subject of watering has come up frequently and there's no agreement as to how much the plant should get. The Christmas cactus requires more water than other cacti types and should be grown in full sunlight in a window sill or in a hanging basket. The books say to keep the plants rather dry from November on, but dozens of our garden friends tell us that they give their plants plenty of water during the winter months, and their bloom profusely for Christmas.

The Christmas Cactus has an extremely small root system for the size of the top and will thrive in the same pot longer than other plants. For that reason it isn't necessary to repot only once every 10 years or so. So, for best results, keep the Christmas or Crab Cactus in a cool room—60 degs. or less, so flower buds can form, and you'll have lots of blooms at Christmas each year. A warm room (70 degs. or higher) means no blossoms.

F. H. of E. Stroudsburg: "Enclosed are a few needles from Mugho pines. In the past two months the needles have turned yellow at the tips. Is this a plant disease, or possible soil deficiency?"

Yours is a natural condition this time of year. Yellowing is due to cold weather and you see it on many types of evergreens. The condition disappears as soon as spring rolls around. It's my opinion that off-color needles is worse in dry years than in normal years.

don't fall for this scheme. This shouldn't discourage you from trying to grow a mushroom tray or two in the cellar for the fun of it. We've had a lot of fun raising mushrooms in the trays, but it's mighty tricky getting a crop.

These trays come complete with compost and top soil. If you want to try a tray, place it in the coolest part of your basement, between 55 and 65 degrees. The air in most basements is too dry for a successful crop of mushrooms, so your biggest job is to protect them from dry air.

One way to do this is to put a piece of muslin or cloth of some sort over the trays, leaving it on all the time, raising it only to pick mushrooms. Water right over the cloth, repeating several times until the top surface is damp. After that, watering twice a week should be enough. Just make sure the soil never dries out. It takes about three weeks (with luck) to get small mushrooms the size of pin heads. These increase in size daily until mature. Mold on the surface usually precedes the mushrooms, but it's nothing to be alarmed over. If you succeed in getting mushrooms, you'll find they don't all mature all at once, so pick the ones that are ready and leave the others to develop. Mushrooms grow in "flushes"—that is, they'll pop up all at the same time and then there'll be a period when there aren't any. You pick them when they are flat, and allow new ones to come along later.

Don't expect to make money in your project. It can be fun, even if difficult. Meanwhile, if any of your friends have had success raising mushrooms in the home, please write and tell us of your experience.

FEEDING FRUIT TREES: Tests at Cornell show that you can feed apple trees in December or later, and not worry about Winter injury. Earlier feeding (October or November) will allow the tree roots to move into the wood and bark, and subject the trees to Winter injury if low temperatures occur.

Two Hunters Fined For Violation

TWO COOPERSBURG hunters paid $25 fines yesterday for hunting without a special doe license.

John Doehling, Monroe County game protector, identified them as Harold R. Young and Robert O. Meas, both 38.

Doehling said they had a permit for Monroe County but were hunting in Pike County when arrested.

Doe season closed yesterday. Doehling said there was a "fairly good" kill, although not as high as game protectors would have liked to see it.

Atomic Electricity In Operation

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18 (AP) — Electricity produced by atomic energy began flowing into commercial power lines today serving homes, factories and shops in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Initial output from the Shippingport, Pa., plant of Duquesne Light Co. was small—only about 5,000 kilowatts—and was described officially as being on a test basis.

After the official start at 12:30 a.m., the power output gradually was stepped up. This will be continued until the plant's full 60,000 kilowatt capacity is reached.

The Shippingport plant is unique in several ways. It is the first full-scale nuclear power plant in the United States and the first major nuclear power station in the world devoted exclusively to production of electricity for peacetime purposes.

Unique Plant

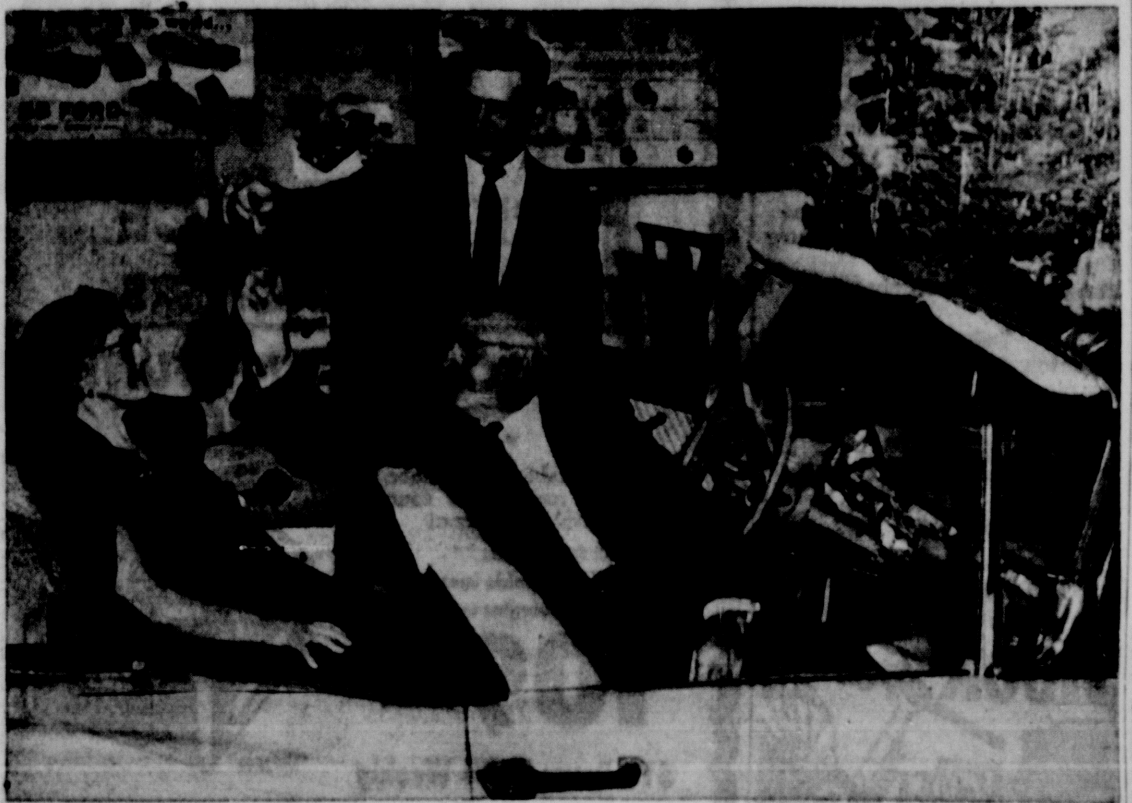

Standing by at the start were engineers and scientists of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, under whose supervision the plant was built; the Westinghouse Electric Corp., which designed, built and installed the atomic reactor; and Duquesne Light, which will operate the plant in conjunction with the AEC.

The nuclear reactor, has been in test operation since Dec. 2, but was not tied into the generating systems until today.

Lewis L. Strauss, AEC chairman, wired congratulations to the scientists and engineers from Paris where he is attending the NATO conference.

Philip A. Fieger, board chairman of Duquesne Light, hailed the start as "another major advance toward the day of abundant, low-cost atomic power." But he cautioned that "a lot of hard work remains to be done."

The cost of producing electricity at the plant is estimated at more than 55 mills per kilowatt. Modern coal-fired power stations can produce electricity for about 4 or 5 mills a kilowatt. Though the cost of atomic-generated electricity is high, Duquesne says it will not have to increase its consumer rates.

Little Rock May Control Future

By Reiman Morin
ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 18 (AP)—Little Rock set back the clock, and the outlook today for peaceful evolution of race relations in the United States looks dark and gloomy.

This is the consensus of two Southern governors, both considered "moderates" in the great struggle over integrating the public schools. They are Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, and Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina.

In separate interviews, they listed as primary results of the dangerous developments at Little Rock:

1. Serious damage to the lines of communication that existed before between white and Negro leaders.
2. A hardening of feeling in both races.
3. The fact that erstwhile moderate-thinking people have been driven to the side of the extremists, or silenced entirely.

Committee
Hodges and Collins, along with Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, composed the committee of Southern governors who tried to work out a compromise, last October, between the White House and Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas. At the 11th hour, apparently close to success, the efforts failed.

President Eisenhower sent elements of the 101st Airborne Division to Little Rock in late September when rioting broke out around Central High School. Nine Negro children entered the school but were withdrawn a few hours later because of the disturbances.

"The display of raw military force," Collins said, "was a grave and grievous mistake."

"Little Rock created a more difficult race relations problem than we had before," Hodges said. "At the moment, I don't see any light ahead."

This correspondent, traveling through North Carolina and South Carolina, southern Georgia and northern Florida, found a remarkable unanimity of opinion—namely, bitterness—from the man on the street.

In Columbia, S. C., Gov. George Bell Timmerman declined to see this reporter. No reason was given. However, the head of a special legislative committee studying segregation problems, State Sen. L. M. Gressette, said, "Little Rock made our position much stronger than before. We're not ready for integration and I don't know if we'll ever be ready for it."

Three-Day Doe Season Reaches End

A special three-day doe hunting season ended Wednesday, concluding the 1957 series of hunting campaigns in Pennsylvania.

More than 300,000 hunters bought special licenses to take part in the hunting which began Monday. Legal game were doe or bucks with antlers less than three inches long.

Though no official reports were available on the kill in any of the state's hunting seasons—small game, bear regular deer or antlerless—it is expected the bags in nearly every case will be as big or bigger than last year.

Montana To Testify Without Fifth Amendment Protection

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—An attorney for John C. Montana said today Montana will appear Friday before the Legislature's Watchdog Committee in Albany as scheduled and will not plead the fifth amendment.

The committee, officially the Joint Legislative Committee on Government Operations, will convene its hearing Friday on the Apalachian gangland meeting.

On Hand

Montana, president of a taxi company and of a wholesale liquor firm, was among those who allegedly were present when state police raided the meeting Nov. 14. He was too ill to attend last week's session, which were marked by repeated refusal of witnesses to answer questions on the grounds of possible self-incrimination.

The attorney, Frank G. Raichle, said today he had notified the committee that Montana would appear Friday.

"Will Mr. Montana invoke the Fifth Amendment?" he was asked. "Certainly not," he replied.

Honorable Mention For Eastburg Back

HOW GOOD is Stroudsburg High? Are the Mountaineers as powerful as their 4-1 record indicates? Has John Kupiec won together a five that will give one of the better showings in the history of basketball at the West Main St. institution?

These questions and many others are constantly on the lips of followers of Stroudsburg sports.

Stroudsburg is as good as its record indicates. However, the proteges of Kupiec are far from a perfect quintet. Although perfectionist Kupiec is working toward this goal:

The Mountaineers should make one of the school's better impressions on Lehigh Valley foes this season, despite its under-class devoted personnel.

Those are our beliefs after watching the Mountaineers drop their first game to a good Stroud Central team at the West Main St. gym this past Tuesday.

Why so, when you consider two sophomores—Tod Williams and Leo Frailay—and three juniors—Tom Gross, Dick Everitt and Dick Jeff Weichel—are molded with only one senior, Ted Williams? Because that fourth-year scholar, 6-5 Williams makes the club tick.

So goes the lean pivotman, on Ted's not-too-wide shoulders rides the hopes of his mates. If Williams is hot, then the rest of the club picks up the tempo. If Ted is cold, then the breeze drifts automatically into the veins of his court buddies.

To be sure, the 20-point or better per game shooter needs Frailay, Everitt, brother Tod, Weichel and Gross. It's the same as ham on rye, or bacon and eggs. Each will go along without each other but they're better suited when tossed together.

Kupiec has done a remarkable job, weaving this inexperienced assortment of basketballers into a smooth unit. No doubt, spasmodic performances, has taken some of the gloss off triumphs. Nevertheless, the wins were picked up and convincingly enough to point out that better exhibitions are in the offing.

The answer to success at Stroudsburg, or any school in a circuit, is the position it attains in league play. For the Mountaineers, superlative action against Palmerton, Cateauqua, Northampton, Emmaus, Lehigh, Slatington in Lehigh Valley League competition determines seasonal laurels or not.

This season, notwithstanding greenness on the roster and expected rosy competition from Cateauqua, Palmerton and Emmaus, the Mountaineers will make one of their better showings in the LV.

Kupiec, one who is not exactly an optimist, has that look which doesn't pin-point one going to the gallows. In fact, it's a smile of victory, or a feeling of contentment that everything is going to be alright. We get that same impulse every time we watch the Mountaineers in action.

BOWLING TIDBITS
Commercial "B"—Steve Balick, anchorman for Frank the Barber, and Pete Budicker, lead-off man for the Barber's, had 630 and 602 respectively. Steve's big games were 221 and 226. Pete had a game of 234. Other good scores were Ken Barnes, 588; Angelo J. DeSanto, 582 and Dick Greiner 585.

Monroe Classic League—Oscar Stuckey had a nice match of 616 and now has an average of 181-14. In 2nd place is Jake Nittel with an average of 185-7. The big series of the night was turned in by Dick Greiner. Dick put 3 games together of 221, 245 and 197 for 663. This total is high for the league.

Monroe County League—Frank Hochrnie, capt. of Al Beeseker's Diner had a match of 643 and a single game of 268. The single score is the highest in the county for this bowling year. Other good scores were Tom Carmella Jr., 602; Ken Fetherman, 599 and Ken Barnes 576.

Guard Against "Killing"
Your Swing

A POINT I stress with beginners is to keep the hand in the same position throughout the swing. At the very outset, for instance, the thumb, which is the guide to direction, is pointed straight ahead, at the pins. It doesn't change one bit in swing. The swing finishes with a reaching follow-through, and a straight ball is the result. Next the thumb is turned slightly to the left of ball-center — approximately at the "1" hand on the clock. Doing this throws the fingers a bit to the right of center, so that they apply hook spin (right to left action) at ball release. The spin is imparted merely by an easy lift as you let go of the ball. Now look at the sketch. Notice that the hand is well behind the ball, the index finger to the right a bit, and the thumb a little to the left of ball-center.

The Formula
If the ball is swinging of its own weight, the approach to the foul line, with a slide, will be completed perfectly — the body balanced, the arm passing the left leg in a straight, grooved

Eckman's Forced Resignation Tipoff Of Pistons' Woes

Bob Davies In Line For Coach Job

DETROIT, Dec. 18 (AP)—The forced resignation today of Coach Charley Eckman points up the woes that have beset the game-dropping money-losing, injury-riddled Pistons since their National Basketball Assn. franchise was switched to Detroit from Fort Wayne, Ind., after the 1956-57 season.

The 36-year-old Eckman, an energetic, cigar-chewing little guy who talks a mile a minute, said he would be paid to June, 1959, on a $12,500-a-year contract running through the 1959-60 season.

"Resignation is a nice way to put it," Eckman told newsmen at his Glen Burnie, Md., home. "We weren't winning. That's all there is to it."

Owner Fred Zollner, millionaire Fort Wayne Piston manufacturer, said he expects to name Eckman's successor sometime tomorrow.

Speculation included the names of Bob Davies, formerly with the old Rochester (N.Y.) Royals of the NBA; Jim Pollard, coach at LaSalle, and another former NBA star; and Bob Calihan, University of Detroit coach. Zollner said the man "I have in mind" is one of many years experience in the NBA, capable of teaching young players. Calihan said he has never been approached.

In Philadelphia, Pollard commented:

"I am quite happy at LaSalle and have not been looking for another berth. I'd be glad, however, to listen to whatever they might have to say."

The Pistons are mired in third place in the NBA's four-team western division and have won only 9 of 25 games this season. They have won only 3 of 11 on their home court in Detroit's Olympia Stadium. Their latest loss, 106-99, was to the St. Louis Hawks in New York last night.

Before the season began, Pistons general manager Fred Delano estimated 6,000 paid admissions a game in Detroit would be needed for the club to break even. The average has been considerably below that, and Delano said recently "our budget has exceeded our expectations quite a bit."

The Pistons were moved to Detroit because they were losing money rapidly in Fort Wayne. Eckman and Zollner are known to have differed sharply on team operations in recent weeks. Both, however, professed no bitterness in Eckman's forced-out.

In three years at Fort Wayne Eckman twice won NBA western division titles outright. He tied for a third. But he never won a playoff against the eastern division champions.

Defense Tops In American

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 (AP)—Tighter defensive play was a keynote of the 1957 American League baseball season, official statistics showed today.

The overall league fielding average of .979 was four points better than that of 1956.

Chicago led in team defensive play for the second straight year with .982, three points better than a year ago. Baltimore was second with .981, followed by New York and Detroit at .980.

New York was tops in double plays with 183, but it was far short of the 214 twin killings made by the 1956 Yankees. Chicago made the fewest errors, 107, and Boston's catchers had the fewest passed balls, 9.

The defensive stars by positions:

Third base — Frank Malzone, Boston, .984; shortstop — Joe DeMaestri, Kansas City, .980; catcher — Yogi Berra, New York, .986; outfielders — Charley Maxwell, Detroit, .997; Al Pilarcik, Baltimore, .996; Ted Williams, Boston, .995; pitcher — Bobby Shantz, New York, .988.

Boston's Jim Piersall handled the most chances of any outfielder, 413, and fielded a brilliant .980. He had four errors.

Thirty-four pitchers fielded without an error, with Dick Donovan of Chicago the leader. He had 55 chances. Shantz handled 72 chances and had only one bobbie.

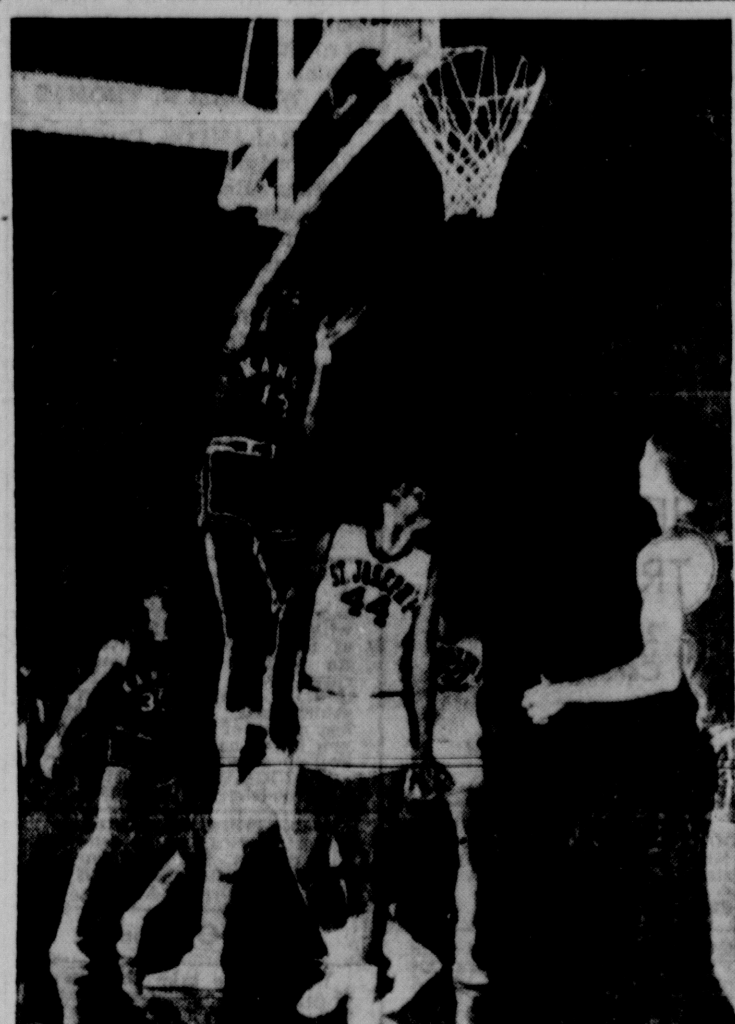

Missouri Picks Devine

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 18 (AP)—The University of Missouri today named as its new head football coach Daniel J. Devine, 33, the mentor who led his Arizona State Sun Devils to an undefeated season.

Devine was the only one of the field of candidates to be interviewed by university officials.

He will succeed Frank Broyles, who resigned 10 days ago after a year's stint here to take the head coaching post at the University of Arkansas.

No salary figure was announced in connection with Devine's three-year agreement which contains a renewal option of two years. But it was understood that his salary would be $15,000 a year.

LOOKING ON A STAR—The St. Joseph's player, Fred Slavick, looks upon a star as Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas drops one in for two points as the Jayhawkers knocked off St. Joseph, 66-54, in Philadelphia. Chamberlain is a 7-footer.

Jimmy Brown Named Victor Of Hickok November Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Jim Brown, former Syracuse All-American and power back of the Cleveland Browns, today was named winner of the November award in the S. Rae Hickok pro athlete of the year poll.

Brown was one of the key players in the Browns' drive to the eastern championship of the National Football League. The husky rookie won the NFL's ground gaining title.

The football star received 30 first place votes and 143 points (on a 3-2-1 basis for first, second and third) from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Jockey Eddie Arcaro was second with nine first places and 78 points. Close behind came Bill Russell, towering ace of the basketball Boston Celtics (13 firsts and 77 points) and France's Alphonse Halimi, the bantamweight boxing champion (13 and 75).

Series Film Shows Aaron 'Magician'

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Official movies of the 1957 World Series, premiered here today before a select audience that included the heads of both major leagues, established Braves outfielder Henry Aaron, the National League's most valuable player, as something of a magician.

The 45-minute film recording all the scoring plays of the post-season classic shows without question that in the third game Aaron actually dropped a fly ball that went into the record books as a sacrifice fly.

Actually Lost Ball

It was the first inning of the first game in Milwaukee, with Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees at bat and teammates Mickey Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra on third and second base, respectively. McDougald flied to Aaron in centerfield. The Braves star slipped to his knees, caught the ball on the fly, but dropped both his glove and the ball to the turf. The movies show that Aaron let the ball dribble off the fingers of his glove onto the grass for an instant before he retrieved it and made it look as if he had made a legitimate catch.

The umpires ruled it a sacrifice fly and Mantle was permitted to score from third after the "catch," with Berra holding second base. Although the movies confirmed what was implied at the time by an Associated Press sequence camera, the controversial play had no bearing on the final outcome of the game, won by the Yankees, 12-3. Nor did that game affect the result of the Series, won by Milwaukee, four games to three.

Low Fonseca, who directed and narrated the film, said 450 prints would be available for public showing beginning Jan. 6.

Geraghty Chosen

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Ben Geraghty of the champion Wichita Braves has been named the triple-A American Assn's manager of the year for 1957. NBA's Best Dressed Owner Is Outfitting Hawks With Wardrobe Minus Pants

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks are the best-dressed team in the National Basketball Assn. today because they overcame one of the sport's most unusual jinxes.

The jinx almost materialized last night at New York before the Hawks increased their Western Division NBA lead to six full games and ran their winning streak to six by beating Detroit's Pistons, 106-99.

The jinx involved pants. Some weeks ago, Hawks owner Ben Kerner promised the boys sports jackets if they won five straight. They did, and collected the jackets. When the streak reached seven, they won sports shirts.

The next night, in Minneapolis, they went for pants—and lost.

Last Saturday afternoon they had a four-game streak going.

Pants Again

"We're going for pants again in Minneapolis tomorrow night," the players told Kerner.

"Nothing doing," he replied. "I'm superstitious. The last time you went for pants there you lost. But you deserve something. How about shoes?"

The Hawks whipped the Lakers by 20 points.

Last night, the boys were going for pants again.

Late in the third quarter it looked like a cinch—they were 19 points ahead and breezing.

Jinx Hovers Over

Then Kerner saw the pants jinx coming. The Hawks didn't score a point the first 4½ minutes of the last quarter and had another three-minute dry spell. The lead shrank to four points, then three.

Not until the last 31 seconds did St. Louis clinch it on Jack McMahon's perfect set shot.

Now the Hawks have an 18-9 record and Coach Alex Hannum is only one game from clinching the Western All-star coaching job.

At this rate, the Hawks could boom the clothing business and maybe break Kerner in the process.

"What a wonderful way to go broke," says Kerner.

ROYAL FAMILY—Queen of the Cotton Bowl, Penny Blackledge (top) of Rice Institute, will be joined at the affair by her twin sister, Patti (below) who has been invited to be Miss Navy, at the festivities. Rice meets Navy in the Cotton Bowl. Both girls are seniors. Their father is a retired Navy officer and Annapolis grad. (International)

Laurel Line
Proposes Rate
Increase

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fares on the Laurel Transportation Co.'s Scranton to Pittston bus route would go up two to five cents, one way, effective Jan. 19, under a proposal before the Public Utilities Commission.

The Scranton firm also seeks to raise 10-trip commutation fares two to eight cents per trip. Present cash fares now range between 10 and 45 cents, and commuter tickets range from 13 to 35 cents, depending on distance.

Everywhere
The boosts would apply everywhere on the Scranton-Pittston route except between Old Forge and Rocky Glen where a 15-cent cash fare remains unchanged.

Laurel estimated the fare changes would produce $3,000 more annually, and said it is needed to meet higher operating costs, particularly wages.

4,000 Coal
Miners Win
Compensation

WILKES-BARRE, Dec. 18 (AP)—More than 4,000 area coal miners will receive $300,000 in unemployment compensation benefits as the result of a decision handed down today by the State Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.

Taking Action
The board ruled that the miners were eligible for the payments, under dispute since a work stoppage in May, 1956, at the Glen Alden Corp. and operations of numerous stripping contractors. The United Mine Workers called the walk-out because the corporation had failed to make its payments on coal mined to the anthracite health and welfare fund.

In taking action, the board of review reversed a ruling handed down earlier by Stanley J. Davis, referee at the local district office of the Bureau of Employment Security.

Tailor Hits Clothes Size

LONDON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Angelo Litrico, the Italian fashion expert who guessed right on Nikita Khrushchev's waistband, paused today and spoke as follows:
"Now us to ballistic missiles, a tailor wouldn't know but in men's fashions the West has nothing to fear from Russia."

Litrico is the 30-year-old Sicilian tailor who made two suits for Khrushchev, and greatly pleased the Soviet Communist party boss.

"In the development of men's fashions Russia just stopped in 1910," said Litrico. "The West forged ahead to greater glories," making a suit for Khrushchev is a challenge that brings out the best in a tailor, Litrico said.

Recovery Fades On Stock Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP) — A smart recovery drive faded on late selling today and the stock market closed mixed.

A snap-back from the past two sessions of gloomy selling put the market well ahead in the morning but gains melted away in the afternoon.

Steel, motors and aircrafts paced the early upsurge when buying was so eager that the ticker tape fell behind for three minutes.

The late attrition was so severe that once again shares of the leading steelmakers hit new lows for the year as did key issues in other sections of the market.

Statistics
The statistics were mixed, with the Associated Press overall average ahead a little. Losers outnumbered gainers by 450 to 394. With 1,212 issues traded, it was a broad market. There were 159 new lows for the year and no new highs.

The AP 60-stock average rose 30 cents to $152.30 with the industrials up 30 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Among the 15 most active stocks there was an even split of 4 gainers and 4 losers with 7 unchanged.

Volume totaled 2,750,000 shares compared with 2,820,000 yesterday.

The most active stock was Bethlehem Steel, off 1/4 at 33 1/2.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 790,000 shares compared with 81,000 yesterday. Among losers were Creole Petroleum, Pacific Petroleum and Thokol. Gains were made by Electric Bond & S.P., New Jersey Zinc and A&P.

Corporate bonds were higher. U.S. government bonds declined in quiet dealings over the counter.

Treasury Balance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP) — The cash position of the treasury Dec. 13:

Balance $3,045,577,902.47; Deposits $28,544,592,668.87; Withdrawals $34,647,350,268.75; Total debt x $276,101,650,040.55; Gold assets $21,929,409,816.08.

x — Includes $438,611,162.84 debt not subject to statutory limit.
